NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Justice Steele's Dissenting Opinion in the Reverse Contempt Case—Board of Equalization.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Denver, Jan. 15.—Justice Steele today filed his dissenting opinion on the decision of the majority of the supreme court in the contempt cases. His opinion as filed holds that the majority opinion was wrong. In opening he says: "The chief justice having decided to concur in the opinion filed by Mr. Justice Gabbert, I deem it my duty to dissent from the judgment. I cannot agree with the majority of the court in any phase of this case. I have already said in my opinion filed on the 23d of October last that I care to say concerning the contempt charges against the attorney-general and the state board of assessors. If as stated in the majority opinion of the chief justice, they were guilty of the contempt charged, they should have been punished. It does not compel respect for the process of the court nor vindicate its dignity to find a person guilty of a flagrant and willful contempt and then discharge them."

The justice then recites at length the reasons for dissent and closes as follows:

"No authority was cited by counsel supporting their right to this judgment. No principle was announced which in my opinion was applicable to this case and yet the court has rendered a judgment which brings confusion to the affairs of the state, basing it as it seems to me, upon no applicable principle nor the authority of any adjudicated case. I do not insist that opinions of courts should be controlled by the judgment and opinions of other courts, nor that they should surrender their own well-considered opinion to the opinions of other persons, but I do insist that where the effect of the judgment is to cause the community to suffer great loss, and where it disturbs and disorders government affairs, that the court should not render such judgment, except it be based upon the authority of some adjudicated case, or founded upon some well-recognized rule or principle of law."

Among the articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state were papers incorporating the Loyal Union Mining & Milling company of Pueblo. The new company will have a capitalization of $500,000. Its incorporators are Clinton Rhodes, J. H. McDaole and James R. Bark.

The city of Colorado Springs today appealed its case against the Colorado & Southern railroad, which concerns the passes on of Sahwatch street, Colorado Springs, to the court of appeals.

It was reported around the state house this afternoon that members of the state board of equalization differ considerably regarding the basis upon which corporate property should be valued. It was also reported that a rather stormy session was held this morning. The trouble arose over the question of when the board shall complete its work. The governor wanted the rest of the members to so arrange it that the work would be completed by tonight. This they refused to do. Since it was announced a few days ago that the board contemplated reducing the valuation as fixed by the state board of assessors, the state house has been crowded with delegations from over the state insisting that the figures remain as they are, and that the board of equalization simply re-extend them. It is claimed that a reduction of one cent would mean political loss to the present board of equalization. A report was current today that the board stood three to two in favor of extending the rolls, as they had been extended by the state board of assessors. This a prominent member denied. He said: "All such reports are false. We are not accepting anybody's figures. We will value the property as we think best."

The governor was too busily engaged with other duties today to discuss Police Commissioner Bottom's resignation or the record of the committee on the Jaffrey-Sherry school. A rumor that will not down continues to float around the state house that this report in a measure contains the charges. However those who should know, deny this.

BOYCOTT PARALYZES TELLURIDE BUSINESS

Special to the Gazette.

Telluride, Jan. 15.—Leading citizens have been endeavoring today to bring about a withdrawal of the boycott order issued by the local miners union against the Telluride Journal on January 1, but find but little encouragement to hope for the success of their effort. The union refuses to recede from its demand that Editor Curry be dismissed and to this the Journal management positively refuses to accede. Merchants have been notified not to have their freight delivered by the Telluride Transfer company, its offence being that it replaced its ad. in the Journal. The union has not refused to permit its members to handle supplies purchased from the Tomboy-Lunt and Stubbs and Jakway hardware stores, and this has avoided involving the mine managers in the controversy.

An amicable settlement is earnestly sought for and, one may be found, though there is yet no sign of one being reached. Business conditions are seriously affected by the results of the boycott and many aside from the original parties to the controversy are being involved in its consequences. Reports are rife to the effect that a serious disagreement has arisen among the members of the boycott committee and that all is not harmony in its ranks. This may expedite a settlement of the trouble. Merchants who withdrew their ads. on notice of the boycott and who were promised that no further command would be made upon them, are now disgusted at the threat of boycott being extended to them should they patronize the Telluride Transfer company. At a late meeting of the union held at the Tomboy union divergence of opinion was manifested regarding a further continuance of the boycott, the more conservative and intelligent members being in favor of calling it off.

WESTERN CONGRESSMAN ARE NO BEST SELLERS

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—General Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster-general, today informed Senator Teller that the charges against Postmaster Price of Grand Junction which caused the withdrawal of his name for reappointment, were general carelessness in conducting his office and in making reports to the department. Senator Teller is disposed to assist Price in securing reappointment if practicable.

Representatives Bell and Shafroth saw James with representatives from the various sugar beet growing states in a protest against any reduction of duty upon the Cuban product. Mr. Bell said today: "I fear the ways and means committee will make a favorable report upon the proposed reduction, and that the duty will be reduced from 20 to 15 per cent."

CRIPPLE CREEK NEWS NOTES

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Cripple Creek, Jan. 15.—Representatives of the Law and Order league scored a clean victory in Justice Kingston's court today. John Nolop and Jack Dalton, charged with conducting a gambling house in this city on September 27, were given their preliminary hearing, and after the evidence was submitted, the justice bound them over to the district court in the sum of $500 each. Nelon and Dalton are the owners of one of the largest saloons in the camp, and when gambling was allowed to flourish in the district, they had a number of games running. The cases are the first of a number to be tried, and if the hearing today is any criterion, the district court will be kept busy for some time to come. The new sheriff, Henry Robertson, is now in office, and the gambling houses are still closed tight, although rumor said it that when Mr. Robertson took his office, the gambling houses would reopen for business.

In the arrest of Charles Alburn, alias Charles Wilson, at Antonito, Colo., yesterday it is thought that the officers have the man who several months ago secured $500 from the First National bank of this city, by false pretenses, and who is also wanted at Topeka, Kas., for a similar piece of work. The American Bankers association has had officers on the track of a number of forgeries from which banks in the association suffered. Cashier E. C. Newcomb of the First National bank of this city has wired to the officers at Antonito, for a photograph of the man under arrest. The photograph is expected to reach here during the next few days, and if the cashier identifies Alburn he will be brought here for trial.

For the first time in the history of the Cripple Creek district, the saloons will close promptly at midnight tonight and remain closed until 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. This action comes as a result of pressure brought to bear by the Law and Order league upon District Attorney Stowbridge. Several days ago the district attorney mailed letters to the saloon keepers notifying them that on and after January 15 they must close their doors at midnight and also remain closed all day Sunday. No objection has been made to the midnight closing law, but some of the saloon men object to Sunday closing.

Sheriff Robertson, acting today under a writ of exception from the district court, levied upon the property of the Black Diamond Mining company to satisfy a judgment obtained in the district court in the case of the State Investment comoany vs. the Black Diamond Mining company. The property levied upon is the Snowbank and Black Diamond No. 2 adjoining claims. To satisfy judgment in the case of G. D. Barnes & Son vs. S. H. Stewart, and in the case of G. W. Stone vs. S. H. Stewart, the sheriff levied upon the Door Key lode of the defendant.

A receiver's receipt was filed today by the Spaulding-Grouse M. & M. company for the Westview lode claim. A location certificate for the Wide Catoodo was filed by M. E. Tomlison and J. N. McCarty.

In the court court today Cora A. Monroe was granted a divorce from John R. Monroe upon the ground of non-support.

Superintendent Snafer of the district schools reports that the enrollment of the schools shows that there are 4,332 students attending. This was an average for the month ending January 10 and shows a slight increase over the same period of last year. Assaying, geology and advanced physics are some of the new subjects for the second term in the high school.

The powder thawer at the Moon Anchor mine on Gold hill was destroyed by fire about 5:30 o'clock this evening. Thirty sticks of giant power in the thawer burnt without exploding, but made a blaze that led many people to believe that a shaft house was burning. The loss was small.

Marriage licenses were issued today by the county clerk as follows: David O. Freeman, aged 22, and Jessie L. Murray, aged 18, both of Altman; L. A. Snyder, aged 23, of Colorado Springs, and Florence Smith, aged 18, of Cripple Creek. The latter couple were married this evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Smith. Mr. Snyder is employed in the advertising department of the Colorado Springs Telegraph and Miss Smith is a popular young lady of this city.

A party of local sportsmen went to Divide on the early morning Midland train to spend a day with the rabbits and greybounds. In the party were S. W. Vedder, A. O. Seebach, Jack Wasson, George Sassett, Joe Jarrett, Joe Donahue, John Sbarbaro and James E. Hanley. The weather was fine and it was a very pleasant outing for the party.

John Eisenhart of Denver came to camp today and has decided to repair his frame block on Third street and Myers avenue, while was damaged by fire early yesterday morning. Mr. Eisenhart presented the fire sufferers with a check for $25 for their relief in putting out the blaze.

Out of town arrivals at the Valona hotel today were: William Wenlan of Colorado Springs; F. A. Bullard, W. S. Corley, E. R. Carey, W. M. Stewart, J. W. Graham, W. S. Allen, J. W. Winchester, F. M. Stone and Clyde Rumstead of Denver; M. Hardock, H. Grayes and wife of Omaha; L. P. Pruyn and W. G. Taylor of Chicago; F. H. Waite and C. W. Tyson of Pueblo; G. H. Carpin of Studio, N. Y.; Mrs. Luella Martin of Birmingham, Ala., and T. J. Mitchel of San Francisco.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTOR

Victor Bureau
Cripple Creek Bureau

Victor, Jan. 15.—Joseph Bermort, the master mechanic at the Golden Cycle property on Bull hill, sustained painful injuries in an accident here today. Bermort was inspecting some part of the machinery and he was caught and two ribs broken. He was taken to his home at Goldfield where his injuries were attended.

Frank N. Briggs, chairman of the Republican county central committee, and Postmaster F. M. Reardon of this city, returned today from Denver, where last night they attended the banquet of the Union Republican club.

Willie Gilchrist, the 13-year-old boy who robbed Mrs. Snyder of Elkton of $21, was today bound over to the district court by Justice Corbin to answer the charge of grand larceny. It is very probable that the case will not be taken to the court by the district attorney as the boy is very repentant and has been taught a good lesson by the deed. All of the stolen money has been recovered, and Mrs. Snyder does not wish to prosecute. The boy is in the county jail.

Mayor Nelson Frank went to Colorado Springs today to straighten out some difficulty relative to Victor's water supply. Water at this time of the year is rather scarce and it is stated that the water officials at the Colorado Springs dam have turned off the water that runs into Victor's dam. It is thought that the matter can be adjusted without difficulty.

The local lodge of Elks is making preparations for the initiation of a large class in February. About 40 applicants have been favorably passed upon and it is expected that a class of at least 60 will be initiated. Miners Union hall will be engaged for the occasion and it is probable that the ceremony will take place the first Monday in February. There is talk of increasing the entrance fee of the lodge to $50 during the present year.

There was quite a large audience at the Methodist church tonight to hear the Schumann Ladies quartet. It was a high-class concert and every number was appreciated by the audience.

ALTMAN

Special to the Gazette.

Altman, Jan. 15.—A match has been arranged between Maurice Jacobs and "The Original Sandow," Ed Fleming of Independence. The contest will be pulled off at the Miners Union hall in this town on February 11, if the hall can be secured for that date. The purse will be $500, winner to take all. Bob Zeons of Independence, will put up Fleming's part of the purse and Frank Copel is backing Jacobs for a like amount.

The headquarters and meeting place of the Altman Miners union No. 75 has been removed from Miners Union hall to Beck's hall in Independence. The union met at the latter place for the first time last night.

The new boiler house photo is now in place. The big 60-foot stack is in position and the addition to the boiler room is nearing completion.

Henry Pound, one of the old timers of Altman, who has been touring the west for sometime past, is back again and has secured a position at the Eagle. Mr. Pound in his travels, went from Mexico to Cape Nome.

Superintendent Harry Shelton of the Zeno is in Denver on a business visit.

William Wright has returned from a few days visit in Colorado Springs and Colorado City.

William Mossman of Canon City, was up yesterday on business connected with the mining property in which he is interested.

FLORENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Florence, Jan. 15.—A large force of graders started to work this morning on the excavat on of the new Portland Cement company's plant which is to be built at a cost of $200,000, with a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day. By July it will be turning out the finished product. It is to be built a mile and a half south of here, extending for miles in either direction, from which the plant will be supplied.

A. J. Gunner of the Florence Oil & Refining company is having a race course built 10 miles south of here in a picturesque spot, between two small forests at the foot of the Greenhorn range. He purchased a bunch of 25 blooded horses from W. W. Porter of Denver, a short time ago, paying for them $34,000.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank was held this morning, and the following officers were elected: M. D. Thatcher of Pueblo, president; James A. McCandless, vice president; S. W. Loy, cashier, and W. E. Mitchell, assistant cashier.

The management of the Union mill has its cyanidation process about perfected and nearly every particle of gold can be extracted from the ore. The plant is treating over 400 tons of ore per day. This morning it paid more than $8,000 in wages to its employes. This mill is owned by Colorado Springs men.

Passion play at Perkins hall tonight. Tickets 50c, at Folts & Mardy.

SUMMER RESORT ARRANGEMENT

BUSINESS MEN OF THAT PLACE PLANNING TO ESTABLISH ONE.

W. H. Kirk Yesterday Received Permission to Put a Steam Launch on the County Reservoir.

W. H. Kirk, of Monument, is at the head of a number of business men of that town who are endeavoring to establish a summer resort there. Mr. Kirk and his associates are endeavoring to induce the town board of Monument to build a park adjoining the big county reservoir there and thus make the place an attractive resort.

The county commissioners received a communication yesterday from Mr. Kirk asking permission to put a steam launch on the reservoir. The permission was granted.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BANQUET THURSDAY NIGHT

The Sunday school officers and teachers of the M. E. church will banquet at the Y. M. C. A. parlors on Thursday night and the meeting will also be made the occasion for the holding of the annual meeting.

The program to be rendered at this meeting is as follows:

TRAMPSTY BITES SENTIMENTALISM

Coroner David Law returned yesterday from Bamah, where he went to investigate the death of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson. As stated yesterday, the death was caused by burns and exposure after the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson had been destroyed by fire.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were sent to Pueblo yesterday and the interment will be in that city, where the father of Mrs. Thompson resides. The funeral will take place this morning at the Mesa Baptist church in Pueblo.

MATERIALS IN GROUND FOR RESPECT LINE

A quantity of material is being hauled to the new route which is being extended from Pike's Peak avenue to Prospect lake. The steel rails and ties are almost all on the ground and as soon as the ground thaws out to permit grading, work will be begun on this line. It is the intention of the Suburban company to complete its line to Prospect lake as soon as possible, but conditions of the weather have impeded the progress somewhat.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT UNITED PRESBYTERIAN

A special series of services are being conducted by Rev. F. B. Foster of Omaha, Neb., at the United Presbyterian church. The program for the rest of the week is as follows:

Wednesday at 7:30, subject, "The Question of an Arab Sheik."

Thursday at 7:30, subject, "A Silence that Speaks."

Friday at 7:30, subject, "A Singer's Resolution."

Saturday at 3 o'clock, subject, "A Mathematical Problem."

Sunday at 11 o'clock, subject, "A Communion Meditation."

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

Sunday at 7:30, consecration service. Sermon, "A Great Commandment."

CORNERSTONE WILL BE LAID MARCH 3

The cornerstone of the new science building will be laid on March 3, at 2:30 in the afternoon. Professor Edward S. Parsons will make the address, giving a resume of the plans of the science building, and Professor Cajori of the scientific faculty will speak of the work to be accomplished there. The musical program is to be under the direction of Mr. George Crampton.

Chancellor Andrews of the University of Nebraska will be tendered a reception at Ticknor hall, and in the evening of March 3 will deliver an address at Perkins hall.

MRS. KING REPLIES TO MR. PARKER'S STORY

Editor Gazette:

Dear Sir: In justice to myself, I feel it my duty to reply to the article in Tuesday morning's paper regarding the statement relative to the trouble set forth by S. T. Parker. I have lived here for 13 years, own my own home and do not keep a boarding house, only a few roomers.

Mr. Parker had a room here while looking for work. Monday morning I asked him to settle his rent and vacate, at which he became angry and, knowing my circumstances, demanded money of me to take him some.

I positively deny having answered his ad or agreeing to pay his fare either way. Respectfully, K. E. Long.

BITES THE HAND THAT FEEDS IT

Colorado Midland Is Maintaining a Freight Blockade on the Short Line Against the D. & S. and Santa Fe.

A condition of affairs unprecedented in the history of railroads in this state now exists as the result of the rate war between the Colorado Midland railroad and the Short Line. The Midland has refused to transfer freight from either the Santa Fe or Colorado & Southern lines notwithstanding the fact that the owners of the Southern control the Midland. As the law exists at the present, freight is being hauled by wagon from the yards of the Southern and Santa Fe lines to the Short Line, and both the former roads are losing money because of the perverseness of a line in which they hold a controlling interest. How long the condition of affairs will last is problematical, but it is expected that the Santa Fe and Southern will force the Midland into transferring freight to the Short Line.

The situation is now practically a fight between the Midland on one side and the Colorado & Southern, Santa Fe, D. & R. G. and Rock Island on the other, all these roads being engaged at the present time in attempting to defeat the ends of what the railway men of the city generally regard as an unprecedented degree of unmitigated perverseness on the part of the Midland.

There is no direct connection between the Santa Fe and Southern lines and the Short Line. Before the rate war began, and until about 10 days ago, freight for Cripple Creek, consigned over the Short Line and the Southern and Santa Fe, was taken over the Midland and Rio Grande tracks from the latter lines to the Short Line yards. The Midland officials decided to fight the Short Line by refusing to transfer freight, and the war was given a new impetus. Freight consigned from the northwest through Denver via the Santa Fe and Southern and Short Line to Cripple Creek was stalled in the Santa Fe yards in Colorado Springs. The Southern and Santa Fe were compelled to haul the freight by wagon to the Short Line yards. It costs these roads more to convey the freight by wagon to the Short Line yards than to bring it from Denver to Colorado Springs.

The Southern controls the Midland, it is said, and the Santa Fe gives the Midland its depot facilities in this city. Why these two lines should permit themselves to lose money owing to the action of the Midland is a mystery. The Southern could compel the Midland to transfer the freight and so could the Santa Fe. The Santa Fe charges the Midland about $2,000 a month for the use of its freight yards and passenger depot here. Yet it allows the Midland to cause it to lose money by refusing to transfer freight to the Short Line. Furthermore, if the present conditions keep up, the Rio Grande, a rival of the Santa Fe in many respects, will secure the through freight business over the Short Line, the Rio Grande connecting directly with the Short Line.

It is said that the object of the Midland in breaking the connections was to prevent the Short Line from hauling coal from the mines north of the city to Cripple Creek. Fortunately the Rock Island has lines to at least three of the mines, and hauls the coal to the Short Line.

The Pike View mine is located on the line of the Rio Grande and when the Midland inaugurated its blockade on the Short Line from the Santa Fe and the Southern the production from that mine was increased to supply the demand for coal via the Short Line and the product reached camp via the Rio Grande and the Short Line. The owners of the Curtis and Danville mines, however, did not care to be out of the business that the rate war had brought to town and arrangements were made at once whereby the Curtis coal was transported to the Short Line via the Rock Island and Rio Grande. Now the Danville mine is doing business by the same route, the coal being teamed from the mine to the Rock Island spur, but if the blockade is not raised at once another spur, connecting this mine with the Rock Island will be put in.

As soon as the Short Line's spur to the Santa Fe and Southern tracks is completed there will be an end to the present condition of affairs, provided the Santa Fe and Southern do not bring the Midland to time before then.

Youths Are Accused of Stealing Liquor

Thomas Holland, a young man, who has been in the custody of the police before, and Elmer Randall, 16 years old, were arrested early yesterday afternoon, charged with the theft of liquor from A. Jae Ward's drug store. Randall was released by the police last night and allowed to go home with his father and mother, but he will probably be taken into custody again today.

Randall has been in the employ of Mr. Ward for about three months. Holland is a vendor of old bottles and sometimes did odd jobs about the drug store. Recently Mr. Ward has missed bottles of whiskey and wine from the cellar of the store, and he suspected Holland, whose reputation is said to be bad.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Ward found Holland and Randall concealing half a dozen bottles of whiskey and wine in an old barrel which Holland was to remove. He summoned Policeman Armstrong and Detective Atkinson, who arrested Holland and Randall.

Randall admitted to the police that he had sold liquor belonging to Mr. Ward to Holland on four occasions. Holland said he did not steal the liquor, but bought it from the boy. He had disposed of it to a number of people about town.

Mr. Ward will swear out a complaint before a justice of the peace today for the detention of Holland and Randall. Holland was arrested last fall for the alleged burglary of a barn at Broadmoor, but the case against him was dismissed.

School Bond Issue Was Again Deferred

The proposed issue of bonds amounting to $100,000, for the purpose of increasing the public school facilities in Colorado Springs will probably not be made for a month or two. At a meeting of the school board last night it was decided to again refer the matter to the finance committee, and the question will come up at the next meeting of the board. All the members are said to be anxious to negotiate the loan, as more room is needed in the local schools owing to the large attendance.

At the meeting last night Superintendent Dietrich read his monthly report which showed that the number of pupils enrolled at the present time in the schools of the city is 743 more than in January of last year. The average attendance a day is 700 more than at this time last year. The first term of the school year closes next week.

President Thayer and W. S. Morris did not attend last night's meeting. Mr. Thayer is out of town and Mr. Morris is ill. Mr. Ormes presided. Miss Marshall, a teacher in the Eighth grade was granted a leave of absence and Miss Wine was selected to take her place. Miss Hayden was chosen as teacher in the sixth grade at the new Helen Hunt school.

The board met at the High school and the session was unusually short, adjournment being taken at 9 o'clock.

ANNUAL MEETING OF STRICKLER

By reason of the illness of the president, the annual meeting of the horticultural society which was to have been held this evening has been postponed, at the request of the members, for one month to Tuesday, February 11 next.

The society is in a most satisfactory condition, with an excellent number of the most earnest workers in its line of usefulness. One of the best accomplishments for the past year has been the work in connection with the boulevard between this city and Manitou, and it is believed now that there is so little between the society and the owners that it will soon be purchased, put in first-class condition, and be in the hands of the public for permanent use.

Those in any way interested by the society in the purchase of this road were the Colorado Springs company, Mr. W. S. Stratton, Mr. Frank V. Castello and Mr. L. S. Ehrich acting for Mr. W. S. Wheeler, the owner. Gen. William J. Palmer and others, when title has been secured to the road, to put it in the best of condition at his expense, and nothing further need be said upon this point. The speedy success of this undertaking is the present outcome.

WOODMEN HAD A GOOD MEETING

Memorial Day Observance Decided Upon.

CONSUL MAN WAS PRESENT

Head Consul Falkenburg Made an Address on Work of the Order—Auditorium Was Crowded.

The members of the local organization of the Woodmen of the World certainly must have felt great pride in their order as the big audience at the Temple theater greeted them last night. Certainly, an organization on which could inspire such enthusiasm as was manifested last night at the reception given by Camp No. 5, Woodmen of the World, must have a substantial stimulus for such extraordinary outburst of loyalty. The Temple theater was crowded to the very doors; the gallery was occupied, and in the aisles many people were standing.

Previous to the reception, the Denver delegation, including Governor James B. Orman and Head Consul F. A. Falkenburg, were escorted from the Alamo hotel to the theater by the Midland band and the local reception committee. Arriving at the theater the visitors, the reception and entertainment committees seated themselves on the stage. Large palms and other tropical shrubbery had been arranged about the stage in a very decorative manner.

The Governor Introduced.

Mayor P. B. Robinson presided and made the address of welcome. In referring to Governor Orman, Dr. Robinson said:

"The Woodmen are the sturdy pioneers who have pressed their way forward and cleared the wilderness, men who have worked their own way through, and hewn their own paths. The chief executive of our state occupies the honorable chair of governor of the state because he is of this type—a man who has hewn his way and made a path for himself out of the wilderness. This is also why he is a loyal Woodman, because he is in sympathy with the men of all conditions, having been through all these conditions himself."

The appearance of Governor Orman called forth prolonged applause and the welcoming clapping of hands did not subside until he began to speak.

"The first time I was in this city was in 1872 and I have watched with delight the growth of the city since then," said Mr. Orman in his address. He then spoke of the Woodmen temple which is in prospect, saying that it would add greatly to the importance of Colorado Springs, and to the state. Mr. Orman is an enthusiastic member of this organization, and in his address he gave expression to his gratification in being a member of such a prosperous society.

"The masses who have turned out tonight are certainly an honor to this organization, and a credit to the city. No organization that has not a substantial foundation could have such a deep interest for the people as is manifested by this gathering," concluded Governor Orman.

Consul Falkenburg Speaks.

After music by the Midland band, Head Consul F. A. Falkenburg of Denver, was introduced and made the principal address on Woodcraft. Mr. Falkenburg has a reputation as a speaker that is certainly not undeserved. His witty illustrations and colloquialisms kept the vast audience in continual good humor, and while his address was very instructive in setting forth the principles of the organization, its aims and what it had already accomplished, it was none the less interesting to those who had no particular concern in the Woodmen of the World.

"This is the largest audience that I have ever seen gathered to learn of Woodcraft," began Mr. Falkenburg. "But a large audience is not necessarily the most interested one; I remember an audience in which there were only two people, but they were not all men," a ripple of laughter greeted this remark. "Woodmen of the World are broad in our principles and one of them is that a woman is really as good as a man; another idea of ours is that we need not tear down other organizations in order to glorify ourselves. There is room for a million in our different ways. I remember the first initiation in this state on September 1, just 11 years ago. We initiated 22 candidates then, up there on Pike's Peak among the stones and the clouds. Since then we have grown until today we number a quarter of a million.

"Now we I remember that climb up to Pike's Peak, and what a treat it was to be up there above the mists of the foothills, and to breathe the air which was so sweet it might be the very breath of God. But there are other heights—heights of real citizenship, rising above the mists of malice and hate and selfishness. We Woodmen have been climbing the heights until today we are the fourth largest organization in the United States. We have been climbing the heights of patriotism, of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. When our beloved McKinley made the call for volunteers in the late war, some insurance organizations immediately issued an order, canceling all insurance policies of their patrons who enlisted in the war. This raised such a row, of protest all over the United States that they modified the order somewhat, saying that all such policies, if they became delinquent during the course of the war, would not be reinstated. What did the Woodmen say in this matter? They said that no neighbor could become delinquent while fighting the battle of humanity under the Stars and the Stripes." In concluding his address, Mr. Falkenburg spoke of the growth and financial standing of the order, saying that bonds were as good as those of the United States. His address was frequently interrupted by prolonged applause. The local camp of Woodmen numbers 4,100, and besides this a number of neighbors from Pueblo and Denver, as well as Cripple Creek and other neighborhood towns were present. The audience included about as many women as men, and the interest manifested at times became intense.

At the conclusion of Mr. Falkenburg's address Rev. W. H. de Comrichie sang two solos in a manner that pleased the audience so much that they would not let him quit until he sang again. Judge John W. Cunningham of this city, one of the prominent members of the local camp, made another address on the ambitions and growth of the Woodmen of the World, giving some of his experiences. Hon. J. C. Hallaway, who attended the state camp among Woodmen, also made a short address along the lines of the previous speakers. The Midland band and the Woodmen quartet of Pueblo, varied the evening's program by rendering several musical selections.

FAVORS AN EXTRA SESSION

Says It Should Have Been Called When Revenue Trouble First Arose But That Date Is Better Than Never.

Among the visitors in the city yesterday afternoon was Hon. Thomas J. O'Donnell of Denver. He was in the city on private business matters and was seen by a Gazette man relative to the proposed extra session of the legislature.

"As to the proposed extra session of the legislature," said Mr. O'Donnell, "I think it should have been called when the trouble over the revenue bill first arose. Not having been done then it should be done now and I understand that an extra session of the legislature will be called. It should be done in the interests of the state. It is beyond anything in the nature of a party matter now and the interests of the people of Colorado are what must be looked after. Personal questions and interests must be forgotten. And," he added incidentally, "the same thing is true in regard to the other political questions interesting the state at the present time."

The conversation gradually turned to the question of a successor to Senator Henry M. Teller, for which honor Mr. O'Donnell's name has been frequently mentioned.

"If Senator Teller desires a re-election to the senate," said Mr. O'Donnell, "I shall support him for the place. Individual ambitions are of no importance in comparison with the right solution of great public questions. Senator Teller's career gives him a name a strength with the people that no other man can have. The little men who aspire to the position will have to make way and those big enough to fill it will gladly make way on account of the cause. It is important that Colorado should be kept in the path it has steadfastly followed since 1896. If Senator Teller consents to continue to lead I shall consent to cheerfully follow. If Senator Teller declines re-election I shall advocate his nomination before the Democratic state convention as the Democratic candidate for the United States senate and all senators and representatives to be elected to be pledged in advance to vote for him. This will make his calling and election sure if the Democracy is successful and I do not believe a corporal's guard can be mustered against the proposition to make him the Democratic candidate for the senate."

MINOR CITY ITEMS

SUPERINTENDENTS MEET.—The regular meeting of the Sunday School Superintendents union was held at the First Christian church last evening. The subject under discussion was "The Sunday School Management."

FREIGHT WRECK.—As the result of a wreck in the Santa Fe yards Monday evening a freight car was burned and an engine damaged. A shifting engine struck a north bound freight train on a switch, resulting in the damage.

SNOW CRYSTALS.—Prof. E. C. Shedd of Colorado college made an address at the Second Presbyterian church last night under the auspices of the Men's league. His subject was the formation of snow crystals. An interesting series of stereopticon views illustrated the lecture.

BARBERS UNION.—At a meeting of the Barbers union Monday night a committee was appointed to see Mayor Robinson and the aldermen with the object of urging the authorities to compel F. P. Davis, proprietor of the Elk hotel barber shop, to close his place of business on Sundays.

Our Most Historic City.

Senator Carman was not very extravagant when he declared the other day that Charleston had more more history than did any other city in the United States. But Charleston has figured in one sort of history which the senator probably did not have in mind, and which is known to comparatively few persons in or out of that city today. Charleston, the fifth city in the United States in 1800, being ceded by New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston and the sixth city as recently as 1830, was a rival of New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia at that time for railroad communication with the west, and had, in fact, in 1833, the longest railroad—135 miles—then in the world, the one from Charleston to Hamburg, on the Savannah river. At that time the future for the South Carolina metropolis seemed especially promising. The first locomotive, the "Best Friend," ever built in the United States was built for the Charleston railroad and used on that line. Charleston is nearer than any other Atlantic coast city to St. Louis, the center of the Mississippi valley, and nearly the center of the continuous part of the United States. In 1857 a continuous rail line was established from Charleston to the Mississippi, at Memphis.

Before 1857, however, Charleston's chances for supremacy among the Atlantic coast cities had ended. DeWitt Clinton's Erie canal, completed in 1825, gave New York an assured ascendency over all the other cities of the continent.—(Leslie's Weekly.

THE VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

It is certainly better that a vigilance committee should patrol the streets of Denver at night rather than that assaults and robberies should be of common occurrence, that no woman should be safe on the street at night and little children should scream in terror from pursuing their play even in the daytime.

But what a commentary upon our boasted civilization that such a course should be necessary in the Capital city of our commonwealth!

When citizens find it necessary to organize themselves outside of the law, and even in opposition to the officers of the law in order to secure for themselves the simplest rights that it is the purpose of organized society to safeguard and to secure, is it not time for decent men and women in the city and the state to do something more than form vigilance committees?

Is it not time for law-abiding and honorable citizens of Colorado to inquire into the causes of such conditions and to take some action to secure a permanent cure of them?

In the first place, it ought to be evident to all that a harvest of crime and violence is reaped only as the result of a long period of seed-sowing and growth. Communities or individuals do not become criminal all at once.

No man gets to be a hardened and habitual criminal without serving an apprenticeship in crime, and the time for most effective action is before and not after the desperate deed that serves as a nine days' horror to the readers of sensational newspapers and drives the community into extraordinary measures of self-defense.

No community becomes crime-ridden except by slow degrees. There are culture beds of wickedness from which fatal germs are disseminated through the community. There are hot beds and nurseries of crime, where the flowers are ripened that must eventually produce their deadly poisonous fruit. There are inducements that cities offer to the vicious and the depraved that attract evil doers as the scent of decaying food draws the flies. No city reaches the condition in which it is necessary to form vigilance committees and to make wholesale arrests of suspicious characters without the sanction of the police until the criminal classes of that city have established themselves on a footing where they can control the administration of the laws in the regular channels.

There is far too much of the sentiment prevalent that one man is as good as another. It is a false.

The decent, honest, self-respecting and law-abiding citizen has rights that the dissolute, the idle and the vicious are not entitled to claim, and it is the fundamental purpose of social and political organization to protect the honest citizen against the man who is a criminal, and against the man who by his habits, his associations and his companionship is training himself to be a criminal.

It is something more than a matter of religion, it is something else than a question of morality, that our larger cities should be kept free from the grosser vices, and that our courts and police boards and city councils should be kept out of the hands of the criminal classes and those who sympathize with and encourage them.

The prevalence of vice in any city surely tends to crime. It leads to corruption in every channel of public life. It rants society like a plague. It poisons politics. It promotes extravagance, bribery and embezzlement in public office. It gives the opportunity for all those evils that have caused our great cities to become recognized as the great problem and the great reproach of civilization in the present age.

The efforts to suppress crime by means of a vigilance committee are as unscientific and as ineffective as the medieval method of checking a pestilence by burning the bodies of the dead and casting the dying outside the city walls.

Where the saloon, the gambling room, the low theater and other resorts of vice flourish, where saloon-keepers and dive keepers nominate candidates and secure their election, where the better classes are not interested in politics, where sensational newspapers make it a practice to pander to the most depraved tastes and advertise vice and crime as merchants advertise their wares, where the envy and hatred of honest working men and women are roused by passionate invectives against those more fortunate in material wealth while nothing is said of the dangers that constantly threaten the home, the individual and the state from below, there crime will flourish and it will not be suppressed by fitful efforts to discover and punish the criminal, nor will the vigilance committee serve except for a passing moment to do the work that should be done by the regularly constituted forces of the law.

It is an easy matter for the citizen when roused to action by such a series of crimes as has taken place in Denver in the past year to patrol the streets for a week or a fortnight, revolver in hand; and it is an easy matter for outside cities to cast blame upon individuals or upon political parties, indiscriminately or with partisan bias. It is not so easy to analyze the causes and to discover the permanent remedy. It is not so easy to place the blame where it belongs. It is not so easy for the citizen to remove that blemish by his political acts he will demand that the hands of the lawless shall not control the machinery of the law, that he will see that the street crimes of crime shall be disinfected and kept clean, and that he will remember, not for a day, not for a month, but for all time, that moral health is as essential to the well-being of a city as is physical health, and that a neglect of social evils is as ruinous, financially as well as morally, and certain to result in frequent and continuous attacks upon the simplest rights of the law-abiding citizen.

But it is only through such sound thinking on the part of the people, and such a resolve, sincerely kept by the people of the city and the state, that the Augean stables can be cleansed and the permanent cure of these evils be effected.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican club meeting in Denver was significant in several ways. It showed that old Arapahoe that the Republican party of Colorado has gone far upon the road to regain its former position of preeminence in this state, even if it has not already occupied the fortress in which it dares defiance to the assaults of the opposition. The enthusiasm that prevailed on that occasion, the interest in the meeting as shown by the numbers in attendance, the spirit of harmony that prevailed, the repeated declarations that personal ambitions and personal predilections were to be subordinated to the good of the party as a whole, were most cheering and encouraging signs.

Such are the conditions of victory in the state.

But these are not all.

If the Republican party is to return to its former position, it is to receive from the people of Colorado the assurance of their confidence and their support for more than a brief period, it must give proof of its purpose to serve the will of the people, and to perform for the benefit those public functions in which the party has been conspicuous in the state affairs in recent years has so lamentably failed. This does not involve any sacrifice of Republican principles. On the contrary, it is one of the chief claims of the Republican party to the confidence of the people of this state that it has maintained its principles amid all the temptations of an era of fusion, and it is one of its present chief sources of strength that the Republican party of Colorado is allied with the Republican party of the nation and is in full sympathy and accord with those policies which form at the present time its chief political purpose and mission.

While all proper credit belongs to the leaders and members of the party who stood firmly by it in its days of adversity, it should not be forgotten that there were only a hopeless and a helpless minority of the people of the state, and that no plan for the restoration of the Republican party to power can be successful that does not include the cooperation of a majority of the voters of the state.

To secure the restoration of Republican ensign, to regain the public confidence and the popular support, and not to promote the personal ambition of any one man or the paramountcy of any faction of the party, should be the aim and object of Republican efforts at this time. The one thing that may be of the success of Republicanism in the state, and in our opinion the only thing that can do it, is to surrender the party to the control of any coterie, ring or faction or to any political boss, however eminent or distinguished he may be.

The people simply will not stand for that sort of thing.

The surest way to restore Republican supremacy is to throw the party open to the people, to rely upon the honesty, the intelligence and the patriotism of the men and women of Colorado, to show forth plainly the undoubted fact that the interests of this state are bound up in the policies now advocated by the Republican party of the nation, to make honesty, efficiency and competency the necessary qualifications to public office, to keep the party free from the taint of possession, and, at all times and under all circumstances to make it that public office held by this party shall prove true to the trust that is reposed in them.

If this is done, every indication points to the speedy triumph of the Republican party in the state, and its permanent control of the state affairs.

THE WOODMEN AND OTHER FRATERNAL ORDERS.

THE ANNIVERSARY of the Woodmen of the World of this city, which was held at the Temple theater on Tuesday evening, gave to many people a new and strong impression of the strength of the fraternal orders in this city, and of the value of the work that is being accomplished by them.

Most men, and, at the present time, a great many women belong to one or more or an association which have as their object the promotion of a brotherly spirit among the members, and the insurance in one form or another of them in time of trouble or distress. Yet there are probably few people even among the active members of such organizations who realize the vast amount of effort that is being expended, and the vast amount of good that is being accomplished by these societies as a whole. It was an impressive sight that the great building in this city should be crowded by an audience interested in the workings of a single one of these societies, but that sight was made much more impressive by the knowledge that this was only one of many, and that a company including the membership of all the fraternal organizations of this city would almost equal in its numbers the entire population.

Only those who are intimately acquainted with the work being done by these societies, and the actual results obtained by them, can appreciate the benefit that is derived from them. To teach the lesson of human sympathy and human brotherhood to those who would not earn it in any other way, to lend a word of sympathy or a hand of help to one who is in need of it, to comfort the sorrowful and to furnish a defense against poverty and suffering for those who have been deprived of their natural protector is certainly a noble work and one that deserves nothing but the most cordial approval and support.

The mission of the secret societies is not that of the church, it is not that of the saloon. Such organizations have a mission of their own, and the support they are receiving from the public is a sufficient evidence, both that the public demand for them exists and that they are filling the demand wisely and well.

The person who has no use for secret societies, or who underestimates their influence and the importance of the good work they are doing, is strangely ignorant of the conditions that actually exist in the world today, and no better method of convincing him of his mistake could be imagined than attendance at such a meeting as was held in this city on Tuesday.

General Palmer's donation for the purpose of establishing a first class modern sanatorium in this city is one of the most important of recent events. It cannot fail to have a most beneficial effect upon the general interests of the city.

AN INVALUABLE ALMANAC 1902.

The Tribune almanac for 1902 has made its appearance and it is a very correct statement of a palpable fact to say that this year's issue surpasses all its predecessors in variety and accuracy. This almanac is not filled up with a mass of dead and undigested statistics. It doesn't read when Noah built the ark, nor cost it live a battery of the fall of Rome. But those looking for live, up-to-date facts will find them here.

If you are interested in questions of population—cities, states, territories or nations—the information is here, easily found.

If you want to know anything about our wars turn to the Tribune almanac.

If you wish to refresh your memory as to persons at the head of the various governments, just look the almanac.

Do the game laws interest you? The almanac covers the subject.

Do you care to know the names of our ambassadors, ministers and consuls? They are in the almanac.

Maybe you are a member of some fraternal, secret or benefit society? Statistics about the societies are in the almanac.

About sporting records and rules and regulations? They are all here.

Pension laws? Just look in the almanac.

In fact you will find here statistics about almost everything of current interest. It is a handy, compact, up-to-date, and altogether the best publication of the kind that human money and hard work could have.

IN PARAMOUNT.

Senator Hoar on the Philippines.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Since the treaty of peace was signed with Spain by which the Philippine islands were ceded to the United states many champions of savage rights and savage liberty have appeared in our country. They maintain that the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States should at once be applied to savage or half-civilized peoples. Notorious among all these is the senator from Massachusetts, Senator Hoar. He has discovered in George Washington, Simon Bolivar, and what not, in the person of the half civilized Aguinaldo. In every speech or writing of his on the subject he has persistently ignored the fact that the Filipinos are not a civilized nor a united people. A half-civilized and in most cases a savage race this senator has insisted should be treated as though they were on a par with the most enlightened nations of the world.

In his last speech on this subject (January 14) he is reported as saying: "It is one of God's truths that no one people has the right to crush the liberty out of another people." The senator does not quote from scripture to sustain this assertion. He could not do so. Still he calls it "one of God's truths." Unfortunate for him and his position the scriptures give an account of a people who were commanded by God to take the lands of another people, to drive them out or extermination them. In the conquest of Palestine by the Jews from Egypt there was no recognition of the liberties of these people.

Had England no right to destroy the liberty of the cannibal Fiji islanders? Had neither France nor England a right to destroy and crush the kingdom of Dahomey? Have not the civilized nations of the world a right to destroy and eradicate an ulcer or a cancer? Certainly they have. It was a matter of self-preservation to the world.

Senator Hoar says again: "We are engaged in the Philippines in the unholy office of crushing out a republic, and if we had dealt with them as we have dealt with Cuba the Filipinos would now be a happy, prosperous people, sending their children to our schools and imitating our institutions."

The senator is old enough to know and has had abundant means of ascertaining that no real republic ever existed in the Philippines. There was no pretense of a republic outside of Luzon, and among the half-civilized and savage tribes of the numerous islands composing the archipelago there was no unity, no agreement. To have promised them independence under such circumstances would have been folly, if not crime. The most liberal, the most humane policy was to lead them to expect freedom when they were qualified for it, and this appears to have been taught them by American soldiers and sailors on the spot. But a treacherous race with a treacherous chief at their head precipitated a war with their liberators and would-be benefactors, and this war was encouraged in the first place and has been kept up since by just such men as Senator Hoar of Massachusetts and others like him who would fanatic-like apply the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States to savage and barbarian races, for which neither was ever intended, nor would it be wise or safe to apply them to such.

Why do not such people lament that their ancestors ever colonized this continent, ever subjugated the savage tribes, ever built cities, railroads, telegraphs or steam vessels, ever bridged rivers or made the desert to blossom as the rose? Can they not see that all this was at the expense of the liberty of savages? We can assure them that more of the same work will be accomplished in the future, and woe to the savage races that may be found opposing the march of progress and civilization and shame on those who will champion their cause.

The English nation certainly has been a great agent in the civilizing of savage regions of the earth. But in almost every case the sword, cannon, shot and shell have been found necessary to open the way. Force is the first argument with savages. It is the only agent they will respect. Even the Chinese were no exception here. The savage nations, the islands of the seas are never likely to become civilized, much less Christianized, without force is employed first to open the way.

The Philippine islands are now the property of the United States. We are in duty bound to govern and civilize them. They must be taught first of all to respect our rule and authority. When they have learned this lesson and show themselves to be worthy and fit for self-government then it will be time enough to talk of giving them freedom.

Pike's Peak.

Indorses the Gazette.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

Dear Sir:—I wish to endorse your position on the telephone franchise question, competition between public utility corporations rarely benefits the people. I hope, however, you will continue to fight for lower telephone rates, and if nothing can be accomplished now, carry the question to the next legislature.

Very truly yours,

W. K. Sutton.

Decision on Injunction Case Comes Today

Arguments were completed yesterday in the injunction proceedings begun by S. P. Duffee and other taxpayers against the city. Judge Cunningham will hand down his decision in the case in the district court at 10 o'clock this morning. The decision is awaited with much interest.

Judge Samuel H. Kingsley took up most of the time of the proceedings yesterday in continuing that argument that the city had no right to issue bonds for the purchase of a site for a reservoir. He quoted many authorities to prove that those quoted on Tuesday by City Attorney Sheafor. Mr. McAlister made a short argument for the city.

Judge Cunningham announced that he won'd give his decision at 10 o'clock this morning. By agreement of counsel the decision is to be final in Judge Cunningham's court in the matter of the temporary and permanent injunction. If Mr. Duffee's contention is upheld the city will be delayed from paying the $50,000 authorized by the council for the purchase of the Seven Lakes reservoir site.

Young Woman Created Scene at City Hall

A young French woman was arrested in the Antlers park near the Rio Grande depot last evening. She created an exciting scene at the police station after she was taken there and was locked up for the night. She is a pretty girl, about 20 years old, and the police have been unable to learn her identity. She was under the influence of liquor when arrested.

Policeman [illegible] found the girl wandering around in the park about 7:30 o'clock. He summoned the patrol wagon and after considerable trouble the young woman was persuaded to go to the police station. There she told the officers in broken French and English that her name was Evelyn Oglehy. She declared that she had been shopping at the Aldine hotel, but at the hotel all knowledge of her was denied.

While in the office of the chief of police the prisoner created a scene by demanding the use of the telephone. When she was not given permission to use the telephone she struggled to reach it, and it took the combined efforts of three officers to quiet her. She was finally locked in the jail on the charge of drunkenness.

The girl is believed to be a stranger here. She is dark complexioned and well dressed in black. She will be given a hearing in police court today.

Casaday Filed an Amended Complaint

J. R. Casaday, who is suing J. Reid Crowell for $4,000 alleged to be due him for services in the breach of promise suit brought by Nellie Lewis against the late Sam Strong, filed an amended complaint against Mr. Crowell yesterday in the district court. Mr. Casaday demands judgment for $4,000 and asks that a writ be exeat be granted, restraining Mr. Crowell from leaving the state while the suit is pending. About a month ago a writ of exeat which had been issued in the Pueblo courts against Mr. Crowell was dissolved by Judge Cunningham in this court because the defendant's attorneys proved that the suit was one at law and not in equity, and writs of exeat cannot be issued except in equitable proceedings.

In the amended complaint filed yesterday Attorneys Essex and McFarlin endeavor to prove that the proceedings are in equity, and declare that Mr. Crowell is holding the $4,000 said to be due Casaday in trust. It is alleged that Mr. Crowell engaged Mr. Casaday to induce the late Sam Strong to permit the breach of promise suit against him to be tried during the January term of the district court in 1900. Mr. Casaday says he fulfilled his mission by prevailing upon Mr. Strong's friend, George F. Harbaugh, to influence him into permitting the case to come to trial. The case was tried, resulting in a verdict of $50,000 for Miss Lewis, and after the death of Mr. Strong the case was settled by his widow for $24,000. Mr. Casaday says he never received the money alleged to be due him, and demands judgment for that amount. He also asks that another writ of exeat be granted, and he alleges that Mr. Crowell intends to leave Colorado. Mr. Crowell denies that he intends to leave the state.

In the case of Mrs. H. M. Mitchell against the city of Colorado Springs, Judge Cunningham yesterday granted permission for the plaintiff to sue as a poor person.

In the county court D. J. Wilson filed a suit demanding $500 damages from Mrs. M. A. Reed. The plaintiff alleges that he bought part of lots 13 and 14, Boulder Heights addition No. 1 from Mrs. Reed, paying therefor $2,100. He says the defendant agreed to make certain improvements on the property, and as this was never done, he asks for damages.

The case of L. W. Popejoy against W. N. Proctor, a demand for a commission of $500 for a sale for the defendant of the Brunswick billiard hall, was on trial in the county court. The trial will be continued today.

Humphrey-Williams Wedding Last Night

All the young people and most of the older people in Colorado Springs will be interested in the following special to the Gazette from Denver. Mr. Humphrey was born in Colorado Springs:

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, Jan. 25.—One of the prettiest home weddings of the season occurred at the residence of Mrs. Ina F. Williams, 1015 Welton street, at 7:30 tonight, when her daughter, Miss Clare, was married to Robert Guy Humphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Humphrey of Colorado Springs. The ceremony, which was the beautiful Episcopal service, was performed by Rev. Thomas Schofield of the Episcopal church at Cripple Creek. The bride's home was artistically decorated with wild smilax, azaleas and palms. They were so arranged as to produce a very attractive effect throughout the rooms. A canopy of flowers was built in the center of the room, under which the couple stood, unattended, while being married.

The wedding march was played by a harpist and was the "Angel's Serenade." The bride wore a white crepe chiffon over white taffeta and a long tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. After the ceremony refreshments were served. The dining room was decorated in pink and white and in the center of the table stood a magnificent jar of sweet peas and violets.

Both of the contracting parties are graduates of the State university at Boulder. Miss Williams is well known throughout this city, and Mr. Humphrey is in the engineering department of the electric lighting company at Colorado Springs. About 50 guests were present, among those from Colorado Spring, being Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Humphrey, parents of the groom, Mrs. Nicolin, Dr. P. Oliver Lamford, Harry Gardner and E. T. Jones. The newly married couple left on a trip throughout the west tonight. They will be at home in Colorado Springs after February 15.

Eleven Building Permits Issued

Eleven building permits were issued yesterday by Building Inspector Corns. An unusually large number of permits for buildings, principally residences, have been issued this week. The permits granted yesterday were as follows:

C. M. Coleman, five-room residence, No. 115 East Fontanero, $1,500; C. L. Tutt, addition to barn, No. 14 West Bijou, $300; M. S. Fishbank, three-room residence, No. 124 Hill street, $350; J. H. Elansberg, 14-room residence, No. 161 Wood avenue, $5,000; A. C. Wichmann, seven-room residence, No. 232 East Washington, $2,000; E. F. Munson, seven-room residence, No. 116 East Caramillo, $1,600; A. J. McCallin, two-room residence, No. 508 South Nevada, $150; E. M. Huffman, four-room residence, 1022 Wheeler place, $500; A. E. Cole, five-room residence, 1343 North Wahsatch, $1,900; Mrs. Mary Thomas, four-room residence, 21 South Tejon, $1,000; Mrs. Ada Deuret, four-room residence, 736 West Cucharas, $1,250.

Sunday School Workers To Test

Denver Has Interested Co[illegible] Visitors Expected.

A Panamerican Gathering

Hon. Hoke Smith Will Open the Convention and Preside During Its Sessions—2,000 Delegates Expected.

The International Sunday school convention, which is to be held in Denver on June 29 to July [illegible], promises to be one of the most important gatherings of the coming summer. There will be no less than 2,000 delegates in Denver, and the local state committee is confident of bringing most of this number to Colorado Springs at the terminal on of the sessions.

Rev. C. K. Powell, superintendent of normal Sunday school instruction of Colorado, and Rev. C. N. Calvin of this city, have just returned from Denver after a several days' session of the executive committee of the convention. Ex-Mayor Henry V. Johnson of Denver is chairman of the state executive committee, having in charge the program and entertainment of the triennial Sunday school convention. While the program is not yet definitely ascertained in detail, the general plan of it was outlined, and besides the business session, a number of excursions over the state will be arranged, and if suitable and agreeable arrangements can be made with the railroads, some of the sessions may be held in Colorado Springs. So far, the line of the special rate tickets for the convention is limited to 60 days' stay in Colorado, but every endeavor will be made to extend the time to 90 days in the hope of entertaining the visitors in the state during that time. Delegates to the convention will come from every state and territory in the union, and from Canada, Mexico, Cuba, the Sandwich islands and Puerto Rico.

Hon. Hoke Smith of Atlanta, Ga., former secretary of the interior, will open the convention and preside during the sessions. Mr. Smith is president of the international organization. Rev. A. C. Dixon, pastor of the Tremont Baptist church of Boston, will lead the devotional exercises during the three days. Other prominent speakers and leaders in the Sunday school movement who will attend the convention are H. M. Ham'l of Nashville, Tenn., Marion Lawrence of Ohio, Dr. John Potts of Toronto, A. E. Dunning of Boston and others of eminent authority and renown.

The sessions will be held in the centrally located churches of Denver—at the Trinity Methodist, the Central Presbyterian, the Central Christian and the First Baptist churches. For three days preceding the convention, the primary and field departments of the international Sunday school movement will hold a three days' session at the Central Christian church, and the sessions to be held in this city will be decided upon at a later meeting of the executive committee, probably at its next meeting in March. Rev. W. N. Hartshorn of Boston, a member of the committee, met with the local members in Denver this week.

"The Sunday school workers of Colorado are very enthusiastic over the convention, which without doubt will be the largest assembly of Sunday school workers ever gathered together," said Rev. Mr. Powell of this city yesterday in discussing the convention.

"The convention meets triennially, and at this time the international society will have representatives from a greater extent of territory and will represent more different people than any religious gathering in late years. We are making every endeavor to make the visit of these delegates a pleasant one."

Fire Clay Company Purchased Site

A deal was completed yesterday by which the Colorado Stone and Fire Clay company purchased 10 acres of land along the tracks of the Short Line south of Colorado City. The land was bought from Charles E. Corporan for $30,000. The property is situated in section 15, township 14, and contains valuable clay for brick-making purposes. The deed making the transfer was filed for record at the county clerk's office.

The Colorado Stone and Fire Clay company was incorporated about two weeks ago. It is the intention of the company to ship clay from the land purchased yesterday to various brick-making plants throughout Colorado and vicinity.

Work on Roads Stopped—Books Suspended

The county commissioners yesterday passed a resolution suspending work on the abstract books until further action is taken. Merton Stubbs and George W. Green have been at work on these books for some time, examining the list of "unknown" properties from the books.

Assessor Strachan wants the men of his office to have charge of the books, and the commissioners are anxious to have the books under their direction. The dispute will be settled soon.

Antlers Chefs to Start Cooking School

In education and art, Colorado Springs has always led and set the fashion for the state, and the latest fad commends itself to everyone as soon as it is mentioned.

It is no less than a French cooking school under the direction of Monsieur Albert Stalie, the head chef of the Antlers, who is going to interest Colorado Springs in the art of cooking as understood by the incomparable French. Mr. Stalie was for a number of years head chef of a fashionable hotel at Monte Carlo, where he learned to satisfy the palates and tastes of the nobility of Europe who winter away their winters at Monte Carlo between coasts. With the unrivaled sunshine, the vegetable products of Colorado are more nearly perfect than elsewhere, and the results of cooking with such materials should bring forth results much superior to most places. At least, this is the opinion of Mr. Stalie, who not only understands the art of cooking, but has reduced it to a science.

Mr. Stalie will be assisted by his corps of assistants, and will give lectures in connection with a practical demonstration of this art. It is the intention to form classes in cooking, and hold semi-weekly lessons.

Alva Adams Talks of the Grand Canon

"When I received the invitation to the mining exchange banquet a few weeks ago, I called up Mr. Donaghue, who seemed to be engineering the affair, and asked him if there was to be any speaking. 'No, you won't have to make a speech this time,' he said, and coming up from Pueblo this afternoon, I was contemplating the fine time I would have tonight, serenely and comfortably enjoying myself, unfettered by the nettling thought of my turn next in the speech-making, and the first thing I learned upon arriving in town this afternoon was that I was to make a speech tonight."

It would not be quite right to say that ex-Governor Alva Adams was cast down or gloomy over the prospect of addressing the banqueters last night, even though he was unprepared with a speech. It is said by the friends of Governor Adams that he has the entire dictionary at his tongue's end, and that he can always assort the words to suit the occasion.

"I am ready at my leisure to show what to say tonight. I have all away in my noggin and pet stories for the once content to listen to others, and here I am ready and against it now," wofully admitted Mr. Adams.

"But speaking of banquets, reminds me of other things, the Good Angel, here, at the Grand Canon, for instance, it is certainly worth a trip across the continent to only to remain at this hotel one hour. Not for the meals—oh, no, though, under the circumstances, they are without equal, being the only ones to be had within a distance of no less than 25 miles. But the view here across the canon is something beyond a description in words. The Santa Fe has just completed a new road there to the Grand Canon at this point, and it is certain to become one of the great popular scenic points of the continent. I had not known of the road until I went there a few days ago.

"It just seems as if the Almighty had created this canon in one of his most extravagant moods, just to show mankind what he really could do to make a show place. It is simply incomparable. From the hotel, one can look across the canon, from rim to rim, apparently a distance of a mile or two, but in reality a few feet less than 3 miles. The depth of the canon at this point is 5,000 feet, or about a mile of solid masonry of the most beautiful tints and shades imaginable. At the bottom of the canon flows the Colorado, between walls of solid black granite of 1,000 feet in depth. The river flows perpendicularly at the base of these walls, black and silent—in reality like the river of the damned. Not a sound, not even the conversations of a crowd of insects or the flutter of a bird disturb the awesome silence that hangs over this mysterious valley. Along the sides of these grandeurs was may be seen great ribbons of verdure, what appears to be good ore, but is almost inaccessible. Nevertheless, upon coming out of the canon I met a prospector going out with his pick and shovel and a few other crude implements. I asked where he was going, and after evading my question for a while, said he had better prospect on the sides of the canon, indicating to him where I had seen the ore. 'That's just where I am going,' he finally confided.

"There is an old Indian legend in this part of the country telling of great banks of solid gold to be found right in plain sight along the track, which is that marvelous the waters of the Colorado. Many people in that part of the country still believe this, and prospectors find just as much gratification in prospecting there as if the myth had a little weight of reality."

Massey Was Called But Failed to Come

E. T. Massey, who was to have appeared in police court yesterday morning, was not there when his name was called and the case was continued until today. The police do not know where Massey is, and if he does not appear today a heavy fine for contempt of court will probably be imposed.

Massey's trial for assault with intent to kill upon Charles Zetzler is scheduled to take place before Justice McCleland this morning. Massey is under $350 bail for his appearance, and the bond will be forfeited if he is not on hand. His wife entered bonds for his appearance.

Massey is also under bail pending a hearing on the charge of assault upon Charles Dickerson.

In police court yesterday Allen Rogers and William McMillen were each fined $10 and costs, charged with drunkenness.

Brookside

Convention Called by Improperly Addressed Mail.

A Matter Intended for a Suburb of Colorado Springs Should Be So Addressed.

At the suggestion of the chief clerk of the railway mail service at Denver and the postmaster at Canon City, the postmaster desires to call the attention of the people of Colorado Springs to the fact that there is a postoffice in Fremont county called Brookside and that all mail addressed to Brookside, Colorado, will naturally and properly be sent to that office. The fact that the public are in the habit of addressing matter intended for the suburb of Colorado Springs, known as Brookside, to the local designation only without adding Colorado Springs to the address will lead to unavoidable delay and confusion in delivery of matter and in many instances it may find its way to the dead letter office instead of to the proper place. The public should carefully address their correspondence to avoid addressing matter intended for the suburb Brookside to the Colorado Springs postoffice.

WOODS COMPANY DIVIDENDS

Respectable Amounts Distributed by Gold Coin, Consolidated and New Zealand—Golden Cycle Production Heavy.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Jan. 18.—Today was dividend day at the Woods investment company office, and a total of $56,650 was declared payable by the Gold Coin, Consolidated Mines and New Zealand Consolidated companies on the 25th of the month. The usual distributions were authorized, as follows: Gold Coin, $30,000; Consolidated Mines, $19,000; New Zealand Consolidated, $7,650. This makes a total of $379,650 in dividends declared since the beginning of the new year, and there are still several companies to be heard from. The year is starting off well in the matter of dividends, and the manager of the Cripple Creek Ores & Sampling company states that the tonnage received at the district plants is the heaviest in the history of the company. A considerable increase in the ore receipts for the month over December is anticipated by this company. The other samplers are doing equally well, and it begins to look as if Cripple Creek would break another record. The regular monthly dividend of the Consolidated Mines company was expected to be increased by some who were interested in this company. Only the regular amount was declared, however, and it is probable that the rate of dividends will be increased at a later date. The heavy distribution made on Christmas day, $190,000, made up for the increase in the accumulation of profits of this company during the past few months.

The arguments in the Damon-Jerry Johnson case occupied the whole day in the district court, and at 9 o'clock tonight the jury was ready for the instructions of the court, which consists of 50 or 60 typewritten pages. Attorney O. J. Willcox opened the argument for the plaintiff company and was followed by Charles E. Potter for the Jerry Johnson, Attorney Joe N. Valle for the defendant company made a forcible talk and F. E. Brooks closed for the plaintiff. The suit has been a long and hard fought one and has necessitated a heavy expenditure of money by both parties.

The Golden Cycle company is maintaining a production of 100 tons of ore per day, the average grade of the mineral running between 25 and 30. It will be an easy matter to increase this tonnage if the management so desires, but the policy of the company will be to keep the development work far in advance of the production, which method has proven a marked success in the instances of the Vindicator and Anaconda companies under the same management.

A lease has been granted on the old Kalamazoo property adjoining the Wild Horse on Bull hill to Paddy Burns, James Wright, W. R. Gilpatrick and S. H. Phipps. The property has been developed pretty thoroughly down to the 600-foot depth through the shaft from which the dead body of Mart n Gibson was taken on December 27. The Kalamazoo is an old location, having been staked out by Paddy Burns when property on Bull hill was traded for, for a horse and buggy, or sold for a song. Burns disposed of the Kalamazoo in this way, but is now going after the ore according to his own practical methods.

THREE DIVIDENDS ARE DECLARED

The Gold Coin, Consolidated Mines and New Zealand Cons. Will Distribute $36,650 on the 25th Inst.

The directors of three of the Woods investment company's mining corporations met in Victor yesterday and declared the usual monthly dividends. The Gold Coin dividend is at the rate of three cents a share on the 1,000,000 shares, amounting to $30,000, and will bring the total amount paid by this company up to $1,080,000. The dividend of the Consolidated Mines is at the rate of one cent a share on the 1,900,000 shares which are issued, amounting to $19,000, and bringing this company's total distribution up to $323,000. This company has been organized only about six months. The New Zealand dividend is at the rate of one cent a share on the 765,000 shares which are outstanding, amounting to $7,650, which makes the total declared by this company $114,300.

It was thought that the Consolidated Mines company might declare a dividend larger than the usual rate, owing to the good profits which the company is earning, but the directors thought it best not to increase the rate at this time, and the stockholders, who received a dividend of 10 cents a share on Christmas day, are not in a mood to in any way criticise the management, which has always manifested its ability to conduct mining companies to the best interests of all concerned.

Each of the dividends will be paid on the 25th to stockholders of record on the 20th inst.

POINTER WILL BE PRESENTED

Meetings Will be Convened Yesterday and Tomorrow Night to Urge the Minnie Consolidation.

The special meeting of the stockholders of the companies which are requested to act upon the resolution of entering the Minnie consolidation was held at the offices of the Minnie company in this city yesterday, and good proportions of stock was represented. After some extended discussion of the situation, however, it was decided to let the whole proposition go over until January 23, to which day an adjournment of the meeting was taken.

When the matter came to a discussion it seemed unfortunate that a misunderstanding of the benefits conferred by the merger should have arisen on the part of minority stockholders in the Pointer company. Although no statement was made, it is probable that there was enough Pointer stock represented to vote that company into the consolidation, in spite of the demurrers, but this arbitrary action the officers have expressed themselves as unwilling to take.

It was decided, however, that in the interval between the adjournment and the reconvening efforts should be made to induce the Pointer stockholders to enter the consolidation. It is understood that some definite proposition is to be made to them which may effect a compromise, but no particulars of any such proposition were divulged yesterday.

MR. PARKER WHITNEY HAS SEAT

On the Local Mining Exchange, and Will Go to the Front in Stock Transactions—Welcomed by the Association's Members.

Mr. J. Parker Whitney of Boston, who is the second largest holder of Elkton stock, has purchased the seat of Mr. G. D. B. Bonbright on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange, and will assume his place on the floor just as soon as the membership committee takes action on his application. The notice must be posted 10 days before this action can be taken.

Mr. Whitney has been in the city for some weeks, and intends to take a very active part in the mining life of the city. His reception to the local stock exchange will be a very warm one, as such business ability as his, and such enthusiasm over Cripple Creek as he will bring to the exchange are just such qualities as are most appreciated and most welcome by the members.

Mr. Whitney has been interested in Cripple Creek for some years, having paid many visits to the camp, and his other interests are numerous and successful. He is especially interested in the Elkton mine, having recently added to his large holdings by purchasing 50,000 shares. He has had much experience in mining matters, being a very keen judge of mineral resources, and his recent examinations of the Elkton property have been accepted without question by many of the conservative investors of the city.

EXCHANGE MOVES TO NEW ROOM

Where the First Trade Was Made Yesterday—Handsomest Room in Colorado—Members Congratulated on Their Good Fortune.

The Colorado Springs Mining Stock association took possession of its new building yesterday morning, when a few informal remarks were made by President Donaldson, and three rousing cheers given for Mr. Stratton through whose enterprise and belief in the future of Cripple Creek and the exchange provided the present elegant home for the association.

At 10 o'clock the brokers assembled in the call room, and there was a large gathering of spectators in the commodious gallery and lobbies. Everything in the room had been put to order the night before, employes of the building having been engaged up to midnight in completing the final cleaning and preparation.

After the brokers and spectators had assembled President Donaldson mounted the left rostrum and addressed his auditors in simple and well-chosen language, calling attention to the first modest beginnings of the exchange and of its gradual growth.

"When the exchange occupied its quarters on Tejon street," he said, "and it was first proposed that a new building be erected on Pike's Peak avenue, it was thought unnecessary by the more conservative of the brokers; but it was built. On its completion the association found itself in possession of what was then very handsome quarters, quarters which satisfied even the most ambitious members; and it was thought then that the exchange would never have to move again."

President Donaldson then went on to indicate the growth of the exchange, and the faith of Mr. Stratton in the institution who closely watched its progress and at last determined to provide it with a larger home. Mr. Donaldson spoke of Mr. Stratton's enterprise in very warm terms, saying that here was one rich man who chose to beautify and enrich his city rather than to indulge in the recreative pursuits usually followed by capitalists.

"As for this exchange," he said, "I can freely say that there is no better one in the country. Larger ones perhaps there are; but none fitted up with more convenient arrangements or whose appointments are more elegant and rich."

And those who listened to this enthusiastic estimate of the exchange room, could easily think it an entirely just one as they glanced about over the white-tile floors, the wrought iron railings, pits and post-board stands, the hardwood rostrums, the commodious blackboards and airy balcony, the great plate glass windows, and lofty paneled ceiling, all contributing to an effect at once artistic and business-like.

In addition to the exchange has a suite of rooms just off the call room which will be utilized for the clearing house and registry departments, the clerical force and the secretary.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

The strength in the price of Golden Fleece shares, noticed on the local market yesterday, is occasioned by the excellent showing of ore in the deep workings of that property. The work which is being done in the bottom levels is showing continuous ore bodies with improving values, and a sufficient amount has been proved that the gold values are pronounced along over the river. A carload of ore is now being raised from a depth of 1,000 feet which is expected to run about $30,000. Returns have just been received on a car of second-class ore which showed values of [illegible] per ton.

[illegible]

Cause in a Consolidation.

[illegible]

[illegible] consignment of ore was shipped to the smelter from the Rio Grande sampler in Cripple Creek yesterday. In all 15 cars were filled out, 13 broad gauge and 20 narrow gauge, containing 300 tons of ore, estimated to be worth $75,000.

Goodnight & Lennox have opened up another shipper on Beacon hill, north of the Gold King. A mine house is now being constructed and it is said that a good body of ore has been opened up at the 200-foot level. Several small shipments have been sent out from the Josie B. in the past.

Anderson and others, leasing on the Climax No. 1 of the Little Buck company, are getting out a shipment that will be marketed the end of the week. The ore consignment sent out by these lessees, consisting of 35 tons, was settled for at the rate of $58 a ton.

Returns were received yesterday from a 40-ton shipment made from the Gold Dollar that averaged $51 a ton.

About 200 tons a day are now being treated at the Economic mill, and it is said the saving is fully as good, if not better than at any of the valley reduction plants. The mill has on hand 2,500 tons. The mine is owned entirely by the Woods investment company and only the ores mined on the Woods properties are treated at the plant.

An output of from 100 to 150 tons a day is being made from the Wild Horse, owned by the Consolidated Mines company. As of it is said to be of smelting grade. The showing in the bottom levels would indicate that the Wild Horse is certainly one of the big bonanzas of the district.

LEASE MADE ON GRAND CLAIM OF BATTLE MOUNTAIN.

A splendid strike has been made on the Trail, situated on the southwest side of Raven hill, and owned by the Battle Mountain Consolidated Mines company. One hundred and twenty-five feet below the tunnel level and 425 feet below the surface six inches of ore is now being drifted on that assays as high as $300 to the ton. The discovery is made on what is known as the "mud" vein. A crosscut is also being driven west to cut what is known as the fissure vein, which is supposed to be about 50 feet distant. The raise will be continued down in order to connect with the Jones tunnel. The connection ought to be made at a depth of about 85 feet below the present depth and then a drift will be run south to connect with the big tunnel. Regular shipments will be forwarded from this time forward from the Trail. George Adams, who has been appointed superintendent of the Battle Mountain company properties and will take charge at once.

PORTLAND PAID REGULAR DIVIDEND YESTERDAY.

The regular quarterly dividend of the Portland Gold Mining company was paid by the secretary of the company yesterday. It was six cents a share, and amounted to $180,000. This disbursement brings the amount of dividends to $4,250,000. This makes the Portland company the largest dividend payer of the Cripple Creek district. From the present excellent indications in the property and the great ore bodies still in reserve that have not yet even been touched it is considered that this rate of dividend can be maintained for several years to come.

KALAMAZOO PROPERTY HAS BEEN RECENTLY LEASED.

Lessees Paddy Burns, Jim Wright, Sam Phipps and W. R. Gilpatrick have recently obtained a lease on the old Kalamazoo property that adjoins the Wild Horse. A large amount of development has been done on this property but no results were obtained. The shaft is down 600 feet and there are thousands of feet of lateral work. It would not be surprising if the lessees were to open ore. Such developments have often been known in the district. Many times one shot in the wall has solved the problem where miles of workings by other operators have proved fruitless. The Kalamazoo shaft is the one in the bottom of which was found the body of the late Martin Gibson, who was murdered the day after Christmas.

NEWS OF MINES

[illegible] Discussion—Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

Throughout a great nation of eighty million it is a desperate struggle to secure even a recognition for a new article, to say nothing of achieving popular favor, and yet within one year Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the new catarrh cure, has met with such success that today it can be found in every drug store throughout the United States and Canada.

To be sure, a large amount of advertising was necessary in the first instance to bring the remedy to the attention of the public, but everyone familiar with the subject knows that advertising alone never made any article permanently successful. It must have in addition absolute, undeniable merit, and this the new catarrh cure certainly possesses in a marked degree.

Physicians, who formerly depended upon inhalers, sprays and local washes or ointments, now use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because, as one of the most prominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form a, the really efficient catarrh remedies, such as red gum, blood root and similar antiseptics.

They contain no cocaine nor opiate and are given to little children with entire safety and benefit.

Dr. J. C. Rettiger of Covington, Ky., says: "I suffered from catarrh in my head and throat every fall, with stoppage of the nose and irritation in the throat affecting my voice, and often extending to the stomach, causing catarrh of the stomach. I bought a 50-cent package of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my druggist's, carried them in my pocket and used them faithfully, and the way in which they cleared my head and throat was certainly remarkable. I have no catarrh this winter and hearing and consider myself entirely free from any catarrhal trouble."

Mrs. Frank Elliott of Wheeling, W. Va., writes: "I suffered from catarrh nearly my whole life and last winter my two children also suffered from catarrh, coughing and pain (throat so much they were out of school a great portion of the winter. My brother-in-law was also cured of catarrh by the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which he tells me he knows that [illegible] and truly [illegible] [illegible] Stuart's Catarrh Tablets [illegible] [illegible] Stuart's Catarrh [illegible] have passed the prospective stage and there is no longer any doubt that a new oil producing district of exceptional value and great possibilities has been discovered. Two wells are now being drilled which have already been struck in the same way which most of them has generally led to the extraction of a certain amount of oil. With the reading the underlying rock. This well, shown as the "Headright" on the accompanying map, though still in process, is conservatively considered a 50-barrel well, and it may easily be one of the richest that ever blown in. The oil from this and a second from the "Boulder" well, which latter has just entered the oil stratum, has been analyzed by prominent chemists and proved to be of as high quality as is found in the United States. The analyses yield 50 per cent. gasoline and gas oil, 40 per cent. illuminating oil, and 10 per cent. lubricating; there is no waste residuum whatever. While at present the statement of this corporation is made, it is safe to say that the oil will command at least $2.50 per barrel at the well.

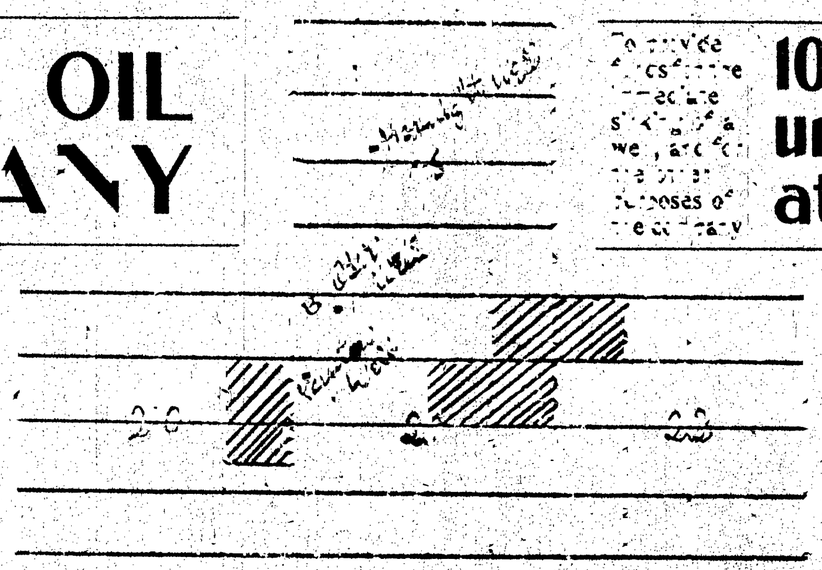
The NATIONAL OIL & GAS COMPANY

has secured by purchase 27 acres of most favorably located land, on which a considerable cash payment has been made, with balance on easy terms. As will be seen from the plat, these tracts, shown by the shaded lines, are situated from 2,500 to 4,000 feet only from the "Headright" well and about half that distance from the "Boulder" well, in what is generally regarded the best portion of the district thus far developed.



To provide funds for the immediate development of the well, and for the other purposes of the company

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Jan. 12.—The first call in the new quarters of the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange was marked by much enthusiasm and the market responded in spots very handsomely. The recovery in Elkton was the most noticeable feature of the day, and there were other instances of strength, although the cases of weakness were by no means conspicuous by their absence and with them the market can hardly be said to be in a good condition. The trading in Elkton was really the life of both calls, the total amount exchanged coming to more than 36,000 shares, and the price advanced from $1.17½ to $1.20½, the closing being $1.20½. This represents a net advance of over eight cents in the past two days. There seems to be a very good demand for the shares, probably due to some strong individual buying, although the prosperous and promising condition of the mine is vouched for by many. Doctor Jack was in some demand at 42 and El Paso advanced to 60, although the close was ¾ lower. Findley was a heavy trader, declining from 11⅝ to 10⅝ and Gold Dollar remained low at 7⅝. Gold Dollar Consolidated was traded in for the first time, and sold at 21¾. Golden Fleece was strong, opening at 56 and Sunset-Eclipse sold up from 11⅞ to 12⅝.

EASTERN MARKETS

New York Stock Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 13.—The stock market turned from its recent consistent downward course today and enjoyed something of a rally. The demand was on a fairly large scale, but the market showed a tendency to fall into intense dullness and developed a hesitating tone on the advance. There were a number of reactions during the day, but the closing was near to the top level, but dullness and wavering still very manifest. The demand from the short interest was a potent influence in the rise. Evidences of support were seen early in the day in some of the stocks, which were taken for bears attack, notably in Union Pacific and other transcontinentals. This serves to intimate the bears, although they renewed the selling on advances. The fact was manifest, however, that the more urgent selling had been exposed on previous days, and the efforts of the bears induced little liquidation.

COLORADO CITY NEWS

COLORADO CITY, COLO., JANUARY 14, 1902. OFFICE—303 Colorado avenue.

DR. HAZLETT RETURNS AND TALKS OF THE FILIPINOS

Flattering Words for Administration of Gen. MacArthur in the Islands From Government Commissioner Sent to Make Investigation—Now Formulating Report.

Rev. Dr. Robert L. Hazlett, pastor of the M. E. church of this city returned from his mission to the Philippine islands yesterday, arriving in this city early in the morning. The reports that while his trip out was a very pleasant one the return trip was very stormy, there being but about five days of sunshine during the entire trip.

During the term of General MacArthur's military government of the islands many people on this side of the water thought they obtained facts showing that great social evils were being fostered by the government in force, although it now appears that General MacArthur did his best to preserve good order throughout the country. General MacArthur made a fine, scholarly report covering the charges as brought, and in his report invited the fullest possible investigation of the methods he had employed in the government of the islands, and of the results obtained thereby. Upon the recommendation of General MacArthur, Dr. Hazlett was appointed as one of a commission to go to the Philippines and make a full investigation of the conditions as he found them, and make a complete report to the war department of his investigations.

While not in the pay of the government upon this trip, Mr. Hazlett was under the care and protection of the government, and was given what papers were necessary to his investigations. The criminal and other records of the former military government were laid open to him, and every possible assistance given him by the authorities. His investigations led him to say that the report which he will make to the authorities will in the greater part corroborate that made by General MacArthur. During the five weeks Mr. Hazlett spent in the islands he visited all of the larger and more important cities, and he says that, owing to great assistance given him, his investigation could not have been more complete and thorough. He met and talked with Aguinaldo and the various members of his cabinet, and they impressed him as being evidently most sincere patriots, and most loyal to the interests of their fellow countrymen.

Aguinaldo.

Aguinaldo impressed him as being a thoughtful man, and although he does not present a commanding appearance, his face and his conversation stamp him as a man possessed of a great deal of natural shrewdness. Mr. Hazlett says his answers to questions are always careful and guarded, as he says he does not wish to say or do anything that will in any way injure his country or its people, and as he further wishes to say nothing that will in any way gain him the ill will of the American people. To Mr. Hazlett he expressed himself, as he has to others, as desiring only that which will best contribute to the welfare of its people. He takes his defeat very philosophically, and hopes that his countrymen will have that which is best for their welfare. Mr. Hazlett says that Aguinaldo is evidently sincere in all that he says, Aguinaldo's wishes for himself are that he may go to Europe, and that the good will of the American people may go with him. While Aguinaldo can only carry on conversation with an American by the aid of an interpreter, his former secretary of war, Pedro Paterno, speaks English fluently.

Mr. Hazlett had several interviews with Paterno, upon one occasion taking tea with him. Paterno is a very scholarly man, having written several books upon the Philippines and the conditions to be found there, and his aim is to see his people educated, and to this end he is devoting every effort toward the establishment of a university at Manila, where higher education for the Filipinos can be obtained. He presented Dr. Hazlett with several copies of his various books, together with some of his other and briefer articles.

Contrary to the common report, Mr. Hazlett says that the Filipinos are a virtuous and temperate class of people. While they are inveterate gamblers, they are not, as has been reported, a dissipated people, but on the contrary, Mr. Hazlett, during his entire stay failed to see a single native under the influence of liquor.

The rank and file of the American army, says Dr. Hazlett, regard the Filipinos as treacherous and untrustworthy, and treat them accordingly.

Behavior of Troops.

With regard to the troops now on duty in the Philippines, Mr. Hazlett reports them as an excellent body of men who conduct themselves nobly in every way. On the streets of Manila there is a noticeable lack of drunken soldiers, a condition that can scarcely be said to exist in some of the cities of this country. Manila, Mr. Hazlett believes, is more orderly and cleanly than any city of like size in the United States. Manila, with its 300,000 population, has a force of 200 metropolitan police, and since the American occupation there has not been a single case of resistance to arrest.

The general health of the cities is good, notwithstanding their low level, and the popular report here that the white man cannot live there is entirely unfounded according to Mr. Hazlett, who says that he met many Englishmen who have lived there for years, and all agreed that a necessary adjunct to the conditions, and a strict attention to hygiene. At Jolo where there are 800 men stationed, there have been days when only six men have been on sick report, and the average is scarcely above 20. The rations now furnished to the soldiers are of good quality.

The Canteen.

Regarding the canteen question Mr. Hazlett says that the sentiment is divided among the army officers, some condemning and some upholding the abolishment law now in effect. Mr. Hazlett, however, attributes the general temperance now existing in the army to the new law. He says the canteens as now operated without liquor are a complete success. Particularly at Pasig is this noticeable, as there there have a canteen conducted without the sale of beer which gives a revenue of $600 per month, which amount goes to the support of the mess table. Here there are 70 men under the command of Captain Shop, and they are well satisfied with the present system of running the canteen, and say that they do not want or need beer there. At San Juango and Binan similar canteens are running and giving satisfaction.

The efficacy of the measures introduced by General MacArthur, says Mr. Hazlett, may be seen by the fact that all of the laws which he enacted are still in force, and Mr. Hazlett attributes to these, with the good conditions prevailing in the cities there. The present civil and military governments work well together, and discord existing be week them.

With regard to the proposed reduction of the force now in the islands, Mr. Hazlett expresses himself as very strongly against such a measure, as he thinks that if any change is to be made there should be an increase rather than a reduction.

Dr. Hazlett believes that the present conditions should continue for some time, as the natives of the islands will not be ready for self-government for a long time. He further states that the authorities are at present doing all that can be done for the advancement of the Filipinos, and that the people now have as good a government as they are at present capable of receiving.

WESTERN LEAGUE

Beall of Minneapolis Expelled—Denver Franchise Awarded to Packard—Support of National Association.

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, Jan. 14.—The Western League of Professional Baseball Clubs and the National Association of Minor Leagues met here today and transacted business in the mutual interest of the two organizations.

The sensation of the day was the expulsion of A. B. Beall, who held the Minneapolis franchise, from the Western league. Beall is charged by the magnates with violating the confidence of the league by trading his park in Minneapolis to George Tebeau for a park the latter owned in Denver.

Other important business was the awarding of the Denver franchise to D. C. Packard and recommending Thomas Dowd's application for the Milwaukee franchise.

At the afternoon session speeches were made by B. B. Powers, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues; Secretary J. H. Farrell and M. H. Sexton, chairman of the board of arbitration, pledging the hearty support of the National association to the Western league.

With President Whitfield in the chair, the Western league held its first open session of the present meeting this afternoon, with the following magnates and applicants present:

J. H. Manning, Kansas City; Thomas P. Burns, Colorado Springs; W. A. Hourke, Omaha; W. T. Van Brunt and R. C. McKibben, St. Joseph, Mo.; W. P. Chase, representing Frank Flynn of Des Moines; A. B. Beall of Minneapolis; J. F. Reilly and M. L. Mittel, Pueblo; D. C. Packard, Otto C. Pfeto and F. G. Bonilla, Denver. Thomas Dowd, applicant for Milwaukee franchise, was represented by proxy.

The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with and B. B. Powers, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, was presented and addressed the meeting. Previous to the meeting of the Western league a conference attended by President Powers and other members of the National association and President Whitfield had been held, at which it was decided that the National association should remain loyal to the Western league in its fight with the American association, giving the Western league financial aid if necessary and moral support at all times. In his address President Powers reiterated this sentiment and formally pledged the support of his association to the Western league.

President Powers gave a history of the progress made by his organization since the New York meeting last October. He took occasion to denounce Thomas J. Hickey, former president of the Western league, who, he said, had attended that gathering and pledged his support to the National association. He said that since then Hickey had proven himself a traitor and ridiculed Hickey's statement that the American association could become a member of the National Association of Minor Leagues. President Powers assured his hearers that players in his association would be penalized and that every man who fails to show up with his club at the beginning of the season would be fined and that no individual club would be permitted to reinstate him.

J. H. Farrell, president of the New York State league and secretary of the National Association of Minor Leagues, followed and after scoring Hickey, indorsed President Powers' pledge of support to the Western league. He announced that there were 19 leagues in the national association.

M. H. Sexton, president of the Three I league and chairman of the national board of arbitration, spoke along the same lines as Powers and Farrell. In the course of his remarks he said that Hickey could not get into the major national association and that he had the distinction of being at the head of the only outlawed baseball organization in the United States.

Then came a surprise when Thomas P. Burns of Colorado Springs made a motion that A. B. Beall of Minneapolis be expelled from membership in the Western league. No charges were preferred. The motion was seconded and immediately carried by an unanimous vote. Mr. Beall arose to speak but was promptly declared out of order and refused a hearing by President Whitfield. Beall left the meeting. Later, President Whitfield stated that the charge against Beall was that of aiding the opposition league by transferring his Minneapolis park and improvements to George Tebeau of the American association. A committee on circuit, consisting of Messrs. Van Brunt, Manning, Bourke and Burns was appointed and the meeting took a recess until evening.

At the night session the committee on circuit submitted its report, which was adopted. D. C. Packard was awarded the Denver franchise and Thomas Dowd was favored for the Milwaukee franchise, though that franchise has not been awarded. It was decided that committees would be appointed to visit Pueblo, Peoria, Indianapolis and Louisville and report the result of their investigations to President Whitfield, who will then select the cities necessary to complete the circuit. W. P. Chase, representing Frank Flynn of Des Moines, appeared before the meeting and gave the Western league an option on all of Flynn's Des Moines baseball interests, after which the meeting adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

CLUB SHOT

IMPROMPTU CONTEST AT BROADMOOR YESTERDAY.

A State Shoot May Be Held on Victor Sometime in March.

The Colorado Springs Gun club held an impromptu shoot at Broadmoor yesterday. W. E. Dingman of Victor and F. N. Cotton, a visitor from the east, were guests of the club at the shoot. It was Mr. Cotton's first try at the traps, but after the first rounds he shot well.

It is announced that a state shoot will probably be held at Ute or some time in March and all the crack shots of this city will participate.

Yesterday's shoot was at 25 targets each round. The score follows:

Garrett	23	23	22	24	23	..	..
Shepwell	23	23	23	22	21	24	..
Dingman	19	20	22	19	20	20	18
G. R. Smith	16	20	13	15	20	..	..
F. N. Cotton	9	3	20	20	18	15	..

NEW MANAGER FOR CLUB HOUSE CAFE

The Club House cafe of Tejon street will open in three or four days under new management. W. C. Jones, the proprietor, yesterday completed arrangements with William Fuelsing, a well-known restaurateur of Denver, for the management of the cafe. The place will be closed until some improvements are made, and it will then be opened again and will be known as the Elkhorn cafe.

For some time the cafe has been managed by M. Kinney. The new manager is one of the best known restaurant men in the state.

ROUND NEEDED SAGE BROKEN

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14.—Chamberlin and Maxey today broke the world's record in the miners' drilling contest that is taking place here this week. Four double-handed teams entered the contest, the one drilling today and the team from Colorado, known as the "Terrible Swedes," each claiming the championship of the world. The record made by Chamberlin and Maxey of Arizona was 40¾ inches in 15 minutes, which beats the world's record by a quarter of an inch. The team from Colorado will drill tomorrow.

Citizens State Bank Had Annual Election

Yesterday afternoon the stockholders of the Citizens State bank met at 4 o'clock in the offices of the bank and a board of directors was appointed. As selected the board is now composed of the following members: M. T. Burwell, B. F. Clark, M. D. Hames, C. D. Taylor, W. D. Ascough, E. K. Lee, J. R. Goff, W. H. Kinkaid and C. E. Corporan. This board will meet at some date in the near future to appoint the officers of the institution for the year. The meeting was a very pleasant one and was attended by a considerable number of the stockholders.

The establishment of this bank at Colorado City has been of great benefit to the city during the past year, and is greatly appreciated by the business men of the community. The business of the bank will, during the coming year, be conducted along the same lines as it has been in the past, and the good wishes of the representative people of the city go with it.

Ascough Returned and Brought Prosperity

Mr. W. D. Ascough, the well-known real estate man, returned yesterday from a trip to Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. He reports fine mild weather in that section of the country, and says that there is no snow there now, although there have been several quite severe cold snaps. It will be of interest to Colorado City to know that Mr. Ascough succeeded in interesting capital in the resources of the city, and that practical results will soon follow which will go to assist the growth of this city. The amount of capital secured could not be exactly ascertained, but it is understood that there is considerably over $50,000 ready to be invested here. This amount will go to constructing dwelling houses in various parts of the city, most of them to be moderately sized houses of from seven to 9 rooms. This in connection with the large amount of building that is now going on, will soon show results in increased prosperity for the city.

OPEN LODGE HAS ITS INSTALLATION

The regular annual installation of officers of the Yeoman order took place Monday night in Woodman hall. Those selected to serve for the coming year are as follows: Foreman, A. E. Ottmaster of ceremonies, George O. Morse; correspondent, C. Sonnekson; master of accounts, C. Linnson; physician, E. C. McKnight. In addition to these regular officers, who comprise the board of managers, the foreman appointed the following minor officers: Lady Rowena, Hattie L. Trent; Lady Rebecca, Zadie Johnson; overseer, Edward Weeks; sentinel, David Kincn; watchman, James Foushee; guard, Kate Kiplinger; secretary, Jennie Lynn; pianist, Kate Kiplinger.

The auditing committee, of which the foreman is chairman by virtue of his office, is composed of Mr. David Kinch and Mrs. Oscar Muedel. Twenty-seven applications for membership were received, favorably reported and balloted on, and in addition 10 more applications were received in the course of the meeting. The lodge took in six new members at this meeting, those initiated being James O. Beasley, Bessie Brinegar, Maud Brinegar, Thea Sather, George C. Taylor and Mrs. Minnie Taylor.

After the business of the meeting was over, those present partook of a luncheon served by the ladies of the order in the banquet room. This lodge now has over 200 members, comprising many of the best and most influential people of the city. This makes it one of the largest fraternal organizations now located here, and if its rapid growth continues it will soon be the leading lodge of the city. Much credit is due to Mr. Graham, the lodge organizer, to whose efforts the present prosperous condition of the lodge is largely due. The next meeting occurs next Monday evening, when the applications received will be acted on, and a drill team appointed, to consist of eight young women and eight young men of the lodge. This team will practice fancy drills which will add much to the social programs of the meetings.

A SORRY SIGHT

It is to see a strong man shaken like a reed by a paroxysm of coughing, which leaves him gasping for breath. People have suffered with bronchial affections for years, with obstinate, stubborn cough, and growing weakness. They have tried doctors and medicines in vain. At last they have been induced to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with the general result experienced by all who put this wonderful medicine to the test—help at once, and a speedy cure.

For coughs, bronchial affections, weak lungs, spitting of blood, and other diseases of the organs of respiration, "Golden Medical Discovery" is practically a specific. It always helps; it almost always cures.

"I had been troubled with bronchitis and catarrh of the head for eight years; had severe cough, and at times great difficulty in breathing," writes W. Howerton, Esq., of Bigfall, Hancock Co., Tenn. "A portion of the time my appetite was poor and part of the time I was unable to do anything. I had been treated by our best country physicians for several years but with little benefit. I had been reading about your medicine for a long time but hadn't much faith in it. Last spring concluded I would try it, and before I had taken one third of a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I began to mend. I continued taking it until I had taken several bottles. Took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets also. Now I feel like a new man, and can do as hard a day's work as any one."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered, or 31 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Women as Mathematicians.

"I wish," said the woman plaintively, "that the shop girls wouldn't count backward. It gets me so rattled. Like this, for instance. Suppose you buy 40 cents worth of something and give them $5. Here they come along pretty soon with your package and the change. 'Forty cents,' they begin. That's the 40 cents you have just spent and consequently haven't got. I always confound it with the 15, and think I ought to have it, and when I find I haven't got it I get mad. 'Forty cents,' they say, 'sixty, one dollar, two dollars, three four and that makes your five.'

"I never can get the straight of it," she sighed, "until I go all over it from the beginning right, and count, one dollar, two, three, four, sixty and then leave out the forty cents I have spent and haven't got."

"It's the same with me," complained another woman. "I wonder why they teach us mathematics in the schools? What good does it do us? I couldn't any more multiply 33 1-3 by 33 1-3 than I could fly to the moon."

"Why that's easy," said the first woman. "Thirty-three and a third multiplied by thirty-three and a third is sixty-six and two-thirds, of course."

The first woman smiled admiringly.

"You were always so much cleverer about your arithmetic than I was," she declared. "I remember that at school I was always a perfect idiot when it came to doing a sum. When they asked me home at home to multiply any sort of fraction by any other sort of fraction, I say, 'If you don't believe I am an educated woman, look at my diploma. There it is over the mantelpiece; but for the love of heaven, don't ask me to do any sort of sum.'"

The blonde girl put in:

"We are the same way," she said. "Cad and I. The other day, after paying our board we had a lot of change left. Then, thinking it over, we found that I owed her 25 cents and she owed me 18. We didn't know how to pay each other. We laid the money down on the bed and commenced to count it out. There was a difference, we knew, between what she owed me and what I owed her, but for the life of us, we couldn't tell what it was."

"The difference between 18 and 25 is eight, isn't it?" inquired the first woman, "or is it seven?" turning to the others.

"I'm not sure," they replied, "whether it is seven or eight," and one of them began to count it over and over on her fingers, with a puzzled look on her face.

"Well," resumed the blonde girl, "we worried over it and worried over it until at last we just counted out the money, each of us. I counted out 25 cents and handed it to her, and she counted out 18 cents and handed it to me, and that was the only way we could think of to settle it."—(New York Times.

WHERE RILEY'S "HOME FOLKS" LIVE.

The Indiana Town Which Has Found Fame in the Loved Verses of the Hoosier Poet.

Greenfield, where James Whitcomb Riley's "home folks" live, is a thriving Indiana town, some 20 miles east of the state capital, on the old national road, "the main highway from east to west—historic in its day," running between Washington and St. Louis. In the memorious verses of Greenfield's beloved poet, the place figures as a modest little village, nestling coxily amid its native woods and fields, and teeming with hearts that throb in neighborly love and good fellowship—a place where every one is content with the quiet village life and interests, and where "Howdy, Jim?" is uttered with heartfelt sincerity. Such was the Greenfield of other years. The Greenfield of today, trim in its modern dress of up-to-date culture and metropolitan air, is as different as is its popular poet from the barefoot country lad of former times. Even the Riley homestead bears traces of modern hand work. But "Old Brandywine" is still "the same old stream;" and "the old swimmin'-hole," and the gnarled old trees, under which Almon Keefer used to read aloud from "Tales of the Ocean," are as they were in the poet's boyhood. The hearts of the "home folks," too, are unchanged, and each passing year only deepens their love and pride for the "Greenfield boy," who is still claimed as "our Jim," although he has lived for years in Indianapolis.—(The Ladies' Home Journal for January.

The Best Age.

The biggest authenticated bag secured at one shot, of which I have ever heard, consisted of one rabbit (the cause of the shot) one heater, one enlooker, (a French cook,) a boy and a dog. I once shot nine snipe at a shot—but this was in South America—they were on the ground, and they were shot for the pot. I have read of a sportsman (not Baron Munchausen) who shot a bumble bee and a butterfly, right and left; and, indeed, sometimes a large bumble bee does, for an instantaneous second, look uncommonly like a distant advancing grouse; just as, when on the alert for partridges, the fieldfares, breasting the hedge, often cause a nervous twitch of the gun.

Curious circumstances sometimes occur out shooting. A friend walking in line down a turnip field saw a startled hare running fast and straight toward him up a furrow. He stood still, waiting for her to turn, but the hare, with her peculiar vision, did not see him, and ran her head plump against his shin, killing herself, and very seriously bruising his leg.—(The Fortnightly Review.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

LARGE BUSINESS INVESTMENTS.

Are you looking for a good business opening? We have several on our list that would take from $4,000 to $18,000 that will stand the closest investigation.
One of them is a retail business that has been established a good many years. The stock is clean, the business is paying big net profits, the owner desires to retire and will sell at the right price. It will take about $15,000 cash.

We have another business in the wholesale and manufacturing line in this city. It is a clean business in which the owners have invested about $10,000. The business cleared last year over $1,000 net. The receipts are over $5,000 a month. The reason this business is for sale is that the partners have agreed to disagree. It is a fine opening for someone or for stock company.

We have a fine opening in the retail line for business on Tejon st. that will take about $12,000 and is clearing big money. Besides the above we have several fine office openings.

LOTS IN LAKE PARK ADDITION.
Lake Park addition is one of my leaders. It is one of the most nightly locations in Colorado Springs. It gives complete view of all the mountains lying to the west of the addition and Prospect lake adjoins the addition on the east, making it a very desirable residence location. I am selling these lots very rapidly. My terms and prices in reach of everybody. Price of lots from $350 to $400. Terms, $5 down and $10 per month. Expect to close this entire addition out in the next 60 days, so if you want a home at a beautiful location, or if you wish to buy a lot before the street car line is built to the lake, now is your time, for the price of these lots will be advanced as soon as the car line is built.

WENT ALONE—Lewis Young, who has been on custody here on a charge preferred by a young woman of Charlotte, N. C., left last night for that place. He went alone, as he had furnished bonds for his appearance there, and was willing to face the charge.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

It is a well established fact that pneumonia can be prevented. This disease always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza. Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for these diseases, you will not find a single case that has ever resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dread disease. The fact is it counteracts any tendency of a cold or attack of the grip towards pneumonia. It is famous for its quick cures of colds and grip. Try it. All druggists sell it.

White Goods and Embroideries
Advance Arrivals :::
There is an advantage of exclusiveness in selecting from these early arrivals. The factories are so rushed as the season advances, that duplication is well nigh impossible.
Every known weave is here in white goods. In Embroideries the matched sets are probably the most interesting—all-overs, embroideries, insertions and edges to match.
Two specials quoted to promote interest:
100 pieces of fine Nainsook Edges, worth 15, 18, 25, 30c, to close quickly, yard 2½c
50 pieces Hamburger two-inch Embroideries and narrow Nainsook Edges; were 10c, 12½c, 15c; now, yard 5c

Guaranteed Black Taffetas
Countless are the Black Taffetas sold over the retail counters that have all the appearances of desirable silks. The deception is perfect. Don't be deceived; —buy only the guaranteed kinds. Ours have our name and guarantee stamped upon every yard. This week we offer some interesting price concessions:

19-inch Black Taffeta for 75 yard, worth	$ 85
21-inch Black Taffeta for 85 yard, worth	1.00
23-inch Black Taffeta for 1.00 yard, worth	1.25
